

FAA Managers Association (FAAMA): "The FAA Managers Association (FAAMA) salutes Congress for its efforts related to the FAA Reauthorization Act of 2024. This comprehensive legislation culminates over two years of hard work by Members of Congress and their staff to address a wide array of key challenges within the aviation community including one of FAAMA's longest-standing legislative priorities – that of supervisor staffing shortages affecting many of our nation's air traffic facilities. We strongly support this important legislation and appreciate the engaging and thoughtful approach employed by Congress to tackle these persistent issues."

– FAAMA President Mike Smith.
